Upstairs in the Bowery
Bobby sleeps alone at night.
Barking dogs and street light
Share the time as it goes by...
He reaches out to touch someone
But there is nobody there..
Bobby loves so badly
Lifes just taking him nowhere.

Chorus:

Traffic lights
The cars they stop
Married men and the bars they hop
Anything can happen in a minute
Watch him now or our boy will soon be in it.
Bigger than life....

Out beyond the avenue
Bobby's searching for a sign
Hurry up, cruise on by
Bobby searching for a line.
"hey, it's the last one I swear it", he says
Just one more for the road.
One more time for Bradley
One more time for pretty Joe.

Chorus:

It's bigger than life
Faster than a bullet...

Upstairs in the Bowery
Bobby breathes alone at night...
Sleeping pills but the music..

Plays on
Plays on
Plays on, on and on and on...
Plays on, on and on and on..
Plays on.
